ANATHEMA POURED ON WILSON'S HEAD BY GERMAN PRESS

American President Declared to be "Unjust and Dishonest" by Vitriolic Scribes of Berlin.

Foreign Secretary Zimmermann Further Discredited In His Attempt To Explain Plot Against United States.

(International News Service.)

Berlin, March 7.—Calling President Wilson "the most unjust and dishonest man who ever was head of a great nation," the Lokal Anzeiger made a vitriolic attack upon the president's inaugural address.

"Exactly the same day 100 years ago James Monroe was inaugurated president," said the paper. "His successor, Wilson, in the capitol at Washington, tore to pieces the document upon which the foreign policy of the United States has been based for the last 100 years—the so-called Monroe doctrine."

(International News Service.)

Buenos Aires, March 7.—Editors of the Argentine newspaper La Prensa today denied that they had ever published an article charging President Wilson with attempting to array the South American neutrals against Germany through formation of a Pan-American alliance.

CATTLE INDUSTRY IN COUNTY BOOMS

THIRTY-TWO REGISTERED BULLS
HAVE BEEN IMPORTED SINCE
TICK ERADICATION.

The eradication of the cattle tick has resulted in a remarkable development of the cattle breeding industry of Morgan county, according to the statement today of W. W. Cameron, federal inspector.

"Thirty-two registered bulls have been brought into the county since the tick has gone," said Mr. Cameron, "and the indications are that this number will be increased. This is one of the most remarkable demonstrations of the practical benefits of eradication that has ever come under my observation."

With the importation of improved breeding stock, Morgan county is forging to the front as one of the best livestock counties in the state.

Washington, March 7.—The first compulsory workmen's compensation or industrial insurance law to come before the supreme court was upheld as constitutional by that body yesterday, the case being one appealed from the Washington state courts.

The Iowa workmen's compensation law, voluntary upon employers, also was upheld as constitutional, and New York's compulsory workmen's compensation law was sustained as generally constitutional.

Hookworm Causing Death Of Alabama Soldiers Report

(International News Service.)
Nogales, Ariz., March 7.—Hookworm is responsible for the high death rate among Alabama guardsmen, according to a report made public today by officers of the United States medical corps. Twenty-eight enlisted men and one officer have died since the troops arrived here last year. The physicians, who had been baffled by the deaths, now declare that the change from the slow sluggish climate of Alabama to the climate of Arizona made the men unusually susceptible to pneumonia attacks because their systems were inoculated with the hookworm.

Other members joined with Hoenseroech and supported the resolution. They point out that German domination of Belgium and the coast of Flanders makes Germany's position secure in peace negotiations.

(International News Service.)

New York, March 7.—Japan sent an ultimatum to China on Feb. 19 declaring that unless China declared war on Germany she would seize the iron works and mines of China, occupy all Teutonic settlements in China and confiscate all Austro-German property in China, the Tribune declared today.

Its information, the Tribune said, was received by persons in New York interested in Chinese affairs.

(International News Service.)

Washington, March 7.—Officials of the Japanese embassy today flatly denied their government has sent an ultimatum to China in an effort to force that nation to abandon its neutrality in the world war.

Safety First Expert Explains Lungmotor

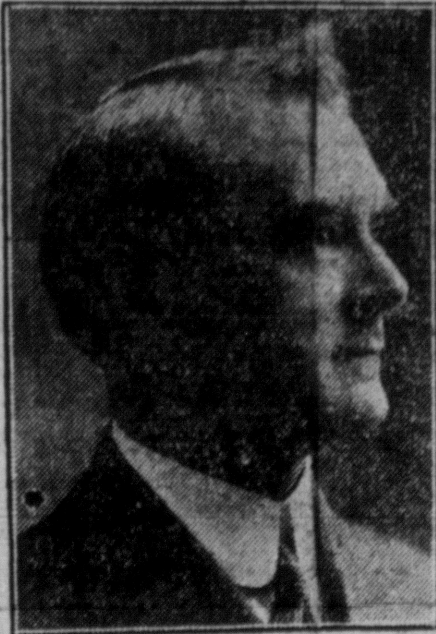

Dr. O. M. Spencer of Alabama Power
Co., Appears at Y. M. C. A.

More than fifty representatives of public service corporations in the Twin Cities who are interested in first aid measures were present at the Y. M. C. A. last night to hear Dr. O. M. Spencer of the safety first corps of the Alabama Power Company, discuss the new lungmotor which will be stationed for community use at the corporation's local office.

Dr. Spencer explained that the machine is invaluable in producing artificial respiration and persons who have been almost drowned or who have suffered electric shocks and are apparently dead can be revived by the use of the lungmotor. The machine, he explained, is an improvement over the pulmotor. Dr. Spencer said that persons who have been in a state of diaphragm paralysis for as much as two or three hours can be revived and he cautioned those present not to give up hope after working on the person for several hours.

Among the companies represented were the Alabama Water Company, North Alabama Traction Company, the Southern Bell Telephone Company, the Louisville & Nashville shops electrical department, the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies.

Alabama jurist who died Monday.

RIVER IS ABOVE FLOOD MARK AND IS RISING STILL

FERRY BOAT QUITS OPERATION
BECAUSE OF LACK OF LAND-ING.

While the Tennessee river today continued to rise above the danger mark, the ferry boat John D. Wyker lies at anchor at the foot of Bank street, unable to operate because of lack of a landing on the other side of the stream. The lowlands for miles, just opposite Decatur and Albany, are inundated. Several farm houses on the opposite bank also are under water.

Driftwood, borne on the crest of the sweeping stream today, bore mute evidence of the damage being done by rushing waters above here. No loss of life has been reported, however, as families in all of the inundated zones have been moved. The river at Chattanooga is reported as practically stationary, but the crest of the flood will not reach here until Friday night or Saturday.

The homes of many negroes, living near the western outskirts of Albany and Decatur are threatened by the water and the families may be forced to move to higher ground.

Despite reports to the contrary, the railroad bridge over the river is not in danger, it was stated today. The bridge still is several feet above the water and it is improbable that the water will reach it.

(International News Service.)

Chattanooga, March 7.—The crest of the rise in the Tennessee river is expected to reach Chattanooga early tonight, when it is expected the waters will begin to fall.

Between 4,000 and 6,000 people here have been driven from their homes. One negro woman died from fright. Chattanooga is practically an island.

The Tennessee river will continue to rise and there is no reason yet to change the former figures of a crest of 26 feet by the end of the week, says the official report of the government river bureau at Chattanooga this morning.

At Chattanooga the river stands at 47.3 feet; weather clear. At Bridgeport the river is at 29.6 feet; weather cloudy. At Guntersville the river stands at 35.9 feet; weather clear.

AUSTRIAN BREAK IS AVERTED NOW; WILSON TO REPLY TO LATE MISSIVE

MONARCHY COMMIT "OVERT ACT" RELATIONS TO REMAIN
UNCHANGED.

NOTE CONCILIATORY IN TONE

DOCUMENT DEFINING U-BOAT POL-
ICY IS BEFORE THE PRESIDENT
FOR CONSIDERATION AND AC-TION.

(International News Service.)

Washington, March 7.—There will be no diplomatic break with Austria unless the submarines of the dual monarchy force the hand of President Wilson by some "overt act" in which American lives are in danger.

This was stated authoritatively today after officials had digested the Austrian reply to this government's inquiry concerning her attitude on the submarine warfare as conducted by Germany.

The note, which was before President Wilson today, is most conciliatory in tone. That President Wilson will reply to the Austrian note is believed certain, unless his hand is forced by "some overt act."

IRISH SITUATION IS AGAIN GRAVE

HOME RULE DEMANDED BY THE LEADERS, WHO NOW OPPOSE COMPROMISE.

(International News Service.)

London, March 7.—The gravest situation with respect to Ireland since the Dublin rebellion, faced the government at today's session of parliament.

Following a meeting of the Irish party it was announced that several leaders will deliver speeches this afternoon demanding immediate home rule. The party decided to oppose any further attempts at compromise and to go into opposition to the government at once if the demands are rejected.

Government leaders fully realize the gravity of the situation. Lloyd George is expected to state the government's position before parliament. It is no secret that the feeling of unrest is stronger throughout Ireland today than at any time since the Dublin riots.

It was organized in Lauderdale county with an authorized capital of $2,000 and paid in capital of $500. Whitten, of Chicago, president; Tracy W. Pratt, of Huntsville, vice-president and treasurer, and Thurston H. Allen, of Florence, general manager and secretary."

Are Laid.

MODIFIED CLOTURE RULE WILL BE RUSHED THROUGH QUICKLY

Proposed To Limit Wind Jamming By Solons To
One Hour Each. Can't Talk Any Bill To Death In Future

(International News Service.)

Washington, March 7.—American merchant ships are to be armed by the United States government and sent on their voyages to the ports of the seven seas "regardless of submarines, barred zones and other obstacles" which the war has placed in the path of American commerce.

President Wilson definitely decided upon this step today. Fortified with the opinion of the attorney general that he has the authority to make such a move, the president is convinced that he is acting within his rights, even though the congressional approval which he sought before the death of the sixty-fourth congress was withheld.

The president called to the White House this morning six democratic senators who have been active in behalf of the administration measures—Owen of Oklahoma; Walsh of Montana; Swanson of Virginia; Smith of Georgia; Reed of Montana and James of Kentucky, and informed them of his decision. He also took up with them and approved the proposition of changing the senate rules toward a modified form of cloture.

With the president's decision to arm American merchant vessels, the break with Austria, which looked to be temporarily averted, again becomes imminent. Following the conference with the senators, Secretary Lansing was summoned to the executive mansion and remained closeted with the president for almost an hour.

It was said in administration circles today that a public statement will soon be issued setting forth the position of the government in arming its merchant vessels.

(International News Service.)

Washington, March 7.—President Wilson today approved the bi-partisan campaign in the senate to prevent a re-occurrence of filibustering such as killed his armed neutrality bill in the final hours of the sixty-fourth congress.

He conferred at length today with six senators and at that time suggested a plan to bring up the modified cloture proposal tomorrow.

At that time Senator Walsh will be placed in the chair temporarily for the purpose of rushing the reform into effect.

Immediately after their conference with the president, the democratic senators went into conferences with the republican committee appointed by the two caucuses, and it was stated that an agreement was reached without delay.

Under the new rules, on a two-thirds vote debate may be limited to one hour for each senator.

Shortly after the senate met at noon Senator Walsh introduced a resolution to re-adopt all the rules of the senate in effect before March 4 except rule 22 establishing the order of motions.

BANKERS TO VISIT BIG AUTO SHOW

SPECIAL ENTERTAINMENT FOR MARCH 13 IS PLANNED BY THE MALONE CO. PROMOTERS.

The visit of the bankers of Group 1, Alabama Bankers' Association, to Albany and Decatur on March 13 will be further enlivened by a special night at the North Alabama auto show which is being promoted here by the Malone Coal, Grain and Motor Company. The bankers will come here for a day's session March 13. The show will not open until March 14, but a special entertainment will be put on in honor of the visiting bankers on the night of Tuesday, March 13.

The show rooms will be lighted and music and entertainment will be furnished, it was announced today after a conference between Vice-President Thos. A. Bowles of the bankers' group and Baynard Malone of the auto show. Reports from many miles around the Twin Cities indicate that the show will be a great success and will draw some thousands of persons to Albany and Decatur. Preparations for the big show are being rushed by the promoters.

MARCH 17.

(International News Service.)

San Antonio, March 7.—Return of all national guardsmen to the home stations and their mustering out before April 1, was ordered from military headquarters here today, as a result of the failure of congress to pass the army appropriation bill.

Among the troops ordered home and the dates of their departure are: March 17—Second Alabama infantry from Nogales, while the Third Tennessee infantry leaves San Benito today.

March 15—Florida field hospital No. 1, from Camp Wilson.

CAMERON CONTINUES WORK OF KEEPING COUNTY TICK FREE

Following up his work of tick eradication in Morgan county, W. W. Cameron, federal inspector, has returned here for a stay of some weeks. His present trip is for the purpose of rounding up cattle that graze into Morgan county from the Lawrence county side. Dipping vats will be installed along the line for the protection of tick-free territory, and drastic measures taken, if necessary, to prevent a tick invasion.

Mr. Cameron will do some missionary work in Lawrence and Cullman counties soon, with the view of holding tick eradication elections next year. A group of the five counties of Franklin, Lawrence, Cullman, Marion and Winston will be given the special attention of the United States department of agriculture.

Efficient work done by Mr. Cameron in Morgan county resulted in his receiving a handsome raise in salary recently from the federal government.

EXPLANATIONS FAIL THE DISCREDITED SENATORS.

Public opinion, the whip that has scourged many a near-patriot and so-called statesmen into paths of rectitude and repentance, is having its effect on the small coterie of senators guilty of filibustering against the bill that would have permitted President Wilson to arm American merchantmen. Some of their misguided friends had lulled the vanity of these "willful" solons with a pro-German song and dance of honors to be heaped upon their devoted heads by posterity. When the rub came, however, posterity was not on hand with its halos and its unctious, and the driving little group was forced to tack before the storm of criticism that swept the country from end to end. After some of the disgraced senators had been hung in effigy, a petition for the recall of one had been filed, a lecture engagement cancelled for another, the press began to teem with explanations that bordered almost on the apologetic.

One of the first to do the turn about was Senator Vardaman, the long-haired, vaudeville artist from Mississippi, who broke into the United States senate by frightening his constituents with the bokey of negro enfranchisement and ballot-box control. Along with Kirby of Arkansas, he withheld his signature from the manifesto issued by patriotic senators after the armed neutrality bill had been talked to death. Only these two democrats from the South thus misrepresented their section.

Vardaman's explanation—that he didn't filibuster—is entirely too misleading to meet with the ready acceptance of John Sharp Williams, a virile American who chews tobacco and cusses on occasion and once in a while appears in public with his hair cut and minus a fresh shine and an immaculate white suit. Mr. Williams is the senior senator from Mississippi, and he construed Vardaman's vote as a humiliation and a deliberate stultification of the commonwealth that they jointly represent in the American forum. Senator Williams, in answer to Vardaman's belated utterance, declares that it is not the first time that the Chataquan has opposed President Wilson's policies. He even goes so far as to assert that Vardaman never votes otherwise than against the wishes of the administration.

In the Vardaman connection he says:

A filibuster may be rightly used against some things, but when the honor of the nation is at stake and when it renders the government of the United States helpless and contemptible, as the president says, before the world, it is not excusable. My colleague says he occupied only sixteen minutes—it is also true that the senator from Wisconsin—Mr. La Follette—did not occupy any time, but it is also true that he was against the bill.

I don't want this occasion to pass without an opportunity to impress upon the people of this country and the world that congress was united in support of the president for the legislation he asked for. We were bound, manacled, held helpless and contemptible by these men. Not only congress but the great majority of the people of the United States are behind the president in this crisis.

Senator O'Gorman, of New York, considered a pretty good old democratic scout until his anti-British blood got him on the wrong side of the armed neutrality question, is handled thus by press dispatches:

New York, March 6.—Formal denial that he participated in the senate filibuster to defeat the president's armed neutrality bill was issued today by former United States Senator James A. O'Gorman, who said he used no more than five minutes of the senate's time during the last three days of the session, and never objected to a vote on the measure.

These are but samples of the brand of sophistry that are being handed out to an intelligent American public by men who are old enough to know that actions count, not words.

Whether or not they gave active assistance to La Follette, the perpetual presidential aspirant and chronic pacifist, they rode in the same boat with men who did. Their explanations come too late. They are already discredited in the eyes of patriotic Americans.

Commission Grants New Rate On Corn

Decision of Public Service Commission Received Here Today.

Announcement of the decision of the Alabama Public Service Commission, allowing a new rate of 8 cents per hundred pounds on corn shipped via the Tennessee river, was received here this morning by Mayor James A. Nelson.

The decision of the commission, allowing the new rate of 9 cents per hundred pounds on cotton seed in the sack, was received with pleasure here. A rate of 10 cents had been charged, it is said.

The case was handled for local citizens by J. D. Patterson, of Montgomery. Mr. Patterson also successfully fought the proposed raise in the freight rate on coal, thus saving local consumers approximately $5,200 annually.

Bone Dry Gets Him: Had Bottle On Hip

Nashville, March 7.—(Special.)—The first arrest in violation of the "bone dry" law was made yesterday when Traffic Officer Marshall and Patrolman John Connor, of the local department, took into custody Horace Yoes, farmer, who was apprehended on one of the uptown streets of the city carrying in his pocket a full quart of whisky.

Charges of being drunk on the street and violating the "bone dry" law were registered against Yoes at the police station. He was locked up, unable to make the required bond of $500.

The law under which Yoes was taken into custody prohibits the receipt of intoxicating liquors from a common carrier or other carriers, prohibiting the possession of such liquors hereafter received from a common carrier, and prohibiting the shipment and personal transportation of such liquors into the state, or between points within the state, whether intended for personal use or otherwise.

Carload Of Velvet Beans Is Sold By Hartselle People

Citizens of Hartselle have disposed of an entire car load of velvet beans at cost to farmers within a week, according to advices received here today. The beans were bought for seed to encourage the farmers in growing them. It is stated another car will be purchased at once.

The following dispatch was received here today:
"Within a week an entire car load of velvet beans, which were bought by the business men of Hartselle and sold to the farmers at cost for seed purposes have been disposed of. It is stated that another car will be purchased. The purchase of the cars of seed is part of a campaign for the raising of velvet beans."

Do you feel old before your time? Is your back bent and stiff? Do you suffer urinary disorders? Don't despair—profit by Albany experience. Albany people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's an Albany resident statement.

J. A. Dillehay, retired grocer, 115 Fourth avenue, Albany, says: "My back was so sore and lame that I had to walk in a stooped position. It caused me intense agony to straighten. My strength rapidly left me and I couldn't get relief, although I tried many medicines and doctored faithfully. Doan's Kidney Pills removed every symptom of kidney complaint. My back was strengthened and I could get about my work easily." (Statement given February 28, 1916.)

Over six years later, Mr. Dillehay said: "I keep Doan's Kidney Pills in the house and take them occasionally merely to regulate the action of my kidneys."

GERMAN PLOTTINGS COVERED COUNTRY

TEUTONS THREATENED CARRANZA WITH REVOLUTION IF HE REFUSED U. S. WAR.

(International News Service.)
New York, March 7.—Germany threatened Gen. Carranza "with the most formidable revolution he had ever known" if he refused to make war on the United States in accordance with Foreign Secretary Zimmermann's proposal for a German-Mexico-Japanese alliance.

This fact and other sensational developments were disclosed by federal authorities in the investigation that followed the arrest of Dr. Sakuma, a German, and Dr. Chandra Chakraborty, a Bengalese, formulating an "East Indian plot."

Information obtained from papers seized in the office of Wolf Von Igel at the time of the Welland canal exposures, together with other bits of evidence, enabled federal authorities here, they said, to announce these disclosures.

It was learned that $3,000,000 has been spent by the German government in fomenting plots in the United States in the past few months. Also that thousands of German spies are now engaged in different parts of the country in formulating conspiracies and that the spy system is headed by an agent of the Kaiser's government referred to as a "master spy," who is still at large.

(International News Service.)

New York, March 7.—Fritz Kolb and Hans Schwartz, alleged German bomb plotters, were held for the grand jury without bail today when arraigned in the Hoboken police court.

A charge of unlawful possession of bombs was entered against them.

The men told the court that they were ready to admit the possession of the bombs, but did not desire a hearing at this time.

Edwin F. Horne, an inspector from the bureau of combustibles of New York, who examined the bombs, said they were of a highly dangerous nature.

LIEUTENANT-GOV. THOS. E. KILBY,
Candidate for Governor

To the People of Morgan County:—

The affairs of the State of Alabama are very much like those of any large business; the same principles should be applied to their operation. I ask your support of my candidacy for Governor upon the basis of my promise to you that, if elected, I will conduct the affairs of the state according to the principles I have been successfully using in the conduct of private business. I would advocate and use the power of the executive office to put into effect a system of business—A BUDGET SYSTEM THAT WOULD PLAINLY AND WITH THE WIDEST POSSIBLE PUBLICITY SET FORTH A PLAN BY WHICH THE EXPENDITURES SHALL NOT EXCEED THE INCOME. By economical management the deficit can be wiped out in a few years. Briefly, I stand for and will work for:

Equalization of the tax burden.
The advancement of all educational interests.
Improvement of public highways.
Encouragement of agriculture.

Better understanding between capital and labor, that the resources of the state may be developed to the fullest possible extent.

A workmen's compensation act that would really compensate injured workmen and their families instead of damage suit lawyers.

Better provisions for the comfort of Confederate veterans.
Codification of the laws, with simplification as a feature, to the end that laws may be understood by laymen. Re-arrangement of judicial circuits and reform of court procedure, according to recommendations of the Alabama Bar Association.

The maintenance and strict enforcement of the present prohibition laws; the enforcement of all laws, and the curtailment of the pardoning power of the executive.

The abolishment of the convict lease system. Convict labor should not be used to compete with honest free labor.
Encouragement of capital for the development of the state on equal terms with local capital.—No discrimination through exemption from taxation.

I think I am justified in assuring you that my experience in business has equipped me for undertaking this work with reasonable hope of its accomplishment to your satisfaction.

Anniston, Ala., March 5, 1917.

Respectfully yours,

THOS. E. KILBY,

WALSH DENOUNCES THE "LITTLE GROUP OF WILFUL MEN"

(International News Service.)
Washington, March 7.—Senator Walsh, of Montana, urging revision of the senate rules, this afternoon hurled a torrent of denunciation on the "little group of wilful men" who killed the armed merchantmen bill. "It is not inconceivable that the obstructionists—the filibusters—may be actuated by traitor's sentiment. What say you? May the senate make a rule by which it may be held at bay by treachery until the foreign foe may have prevailed over a supine nation." He called attention to the fact that in 1861 senators were expelled for treason.

MENTH-ALBA FOR CROUP

In case of croup rub the little one's throat, chest and nostrils with Menth-Alba. The body heat will vaporize it and the vapor of the healing oils will immediately penetrate to the irritated congested membranes, opening the air passages and raising the phlegm. This instantly relieves the choking sensation. Menth-Alba likewise opens the air passages and relieves the irritation that causes cold in the head, catarrh, sore throat, inflamed tonsils, etc. First aid for pneumonia and pleurisy. 25c at druggists. Leave it in the house always.

EXPLANATIONS FAIL THE DISCREDITED SENATORS.

Public opinion, the whip that has scourged many a near-patriot and so-called statesmen into paths of rectitude and repentance, is having its effect on the small coterie of senators guilty of filibustering against the bill that would have permitted President Wilson to arm American merchantmen. Some of their misguided friends had lulled the vanity of these "willful" solons with a pro-German song and dance of honors to be heaped upon their devoted heads by posterity. When the rub came, however, posterity was not on hand with its halos and its unctious, and the drivelling little group was forced to tack before the storm of criticism that swept the country from end to end. After some of the disgraced senators had been hung in effigy, a petition for the recall of one had been filed, a lecture engagement cancelled for another, the press began to teem with explanations that bordered almost on the apologetic.

One of the first to do the turn about was Senator Vardaman, the long-haired vaudeville artist from Mississippi, who broke into the United States senate by frightening his constituents with the bokey of negro enfranchisement and ballot-box control. Along with Kirby of Arkansas, he withheld his signature from the manifesto issued by patriotic senators after the armed neutrality bill had been talked to death. Only these two democrats from the South thus misrepresented their section.

Vardaman's explanation—that he didn't filibuster—is entirely too misleading to meet with the ready acceptance of John Sharp Williams, a virile American who chews tobacco and cusses on occasion and once in a while appears in public with his hair cut and minus a fresh shine and an immaculate white shirt. Mr. Williams is the senior senator from Mississippi, and he construed Vardaman's vote as a humiliation and a deliberate stultification of the commonwealth that they jointly represent in the American forum. Senator Williams, in answer to Vardaman's belated utterance, declares that it is not the first time that the Chattanooga has opposed President Wilson's policies. He even goes so far as to assert that Vardaman never votes otherwise than against the wishes of the administration.

In the Vardaman connection he says:

A filibuster may be rightly used against some things, but when the honor of the nation is at stake and when it renders the government of the United States helpless and contemptible, as the president says, before the world, it is not excusable. My colleague says he occupied only sixteen minutes—it is also true that the senator from Wisconsin—Mr. La Follette—did not occupy any time, but it is also true that he was against the bill.

I don't want this occasion to pass without an opportunity to impress upon the people of this country and the world that congress was united in support of the president for the legislation he asked for. We were bound, manacled, held helpless and contemptible by these men. Not only congress but the great majority of the people of the United States are behind the president in this crisis.

Senator O'Gorman, of New York, considered a pretty good old democratic scout until his anti-British blood got him on the wrong side of the armed neutrality question, is handled thus by press dispatches:

New York, March 6.—Formal denial that he participated in the senate filibuster to defeat the president's armed neutrality bill was issued today by former United States Senator James A. O'Gorman, who said he used no more than five minutes of the senate's time during the last three days of the session, and never objected to a vote on the measure.

These are but samples of the brand of sophistry that are being handed out to an intelligent American public by men who are old enough to know that actions count, not words.

Whether or not they gave active assistance to La Follette, the perpetual presidential aspirant and chronic pacifist, they rode in the same boat with men, who did. Their explanations come too late. They are already discredited in the eyes of patriotic Americans.

Food Prices Show a Climbing Spirit

With the prices of fresh vegetables coming down, speculators have boosted the prices of canned goods and increases have been made in the last few days.

Commission Grants New Rate On Corn

Decision of Public Service Commission Received Here Today.

Announcement of the decision of the Alabama Public Service Commission, allowing a new rate of 8 cents per hundred pounds on corn shipped via the Tennessee river, was received here this morning by Mayor James A. Nelson.

The decision of the commission, allowing the new rate of 8 cents per hundred pounds on cotton seed in the sack, was received with pleasure here. A rate of 10 cents had been charged. It is said.

The case was handled for local citizens by J. D. Patterson, of Montgomery. Mr. Patterson also successfully fought the proposed raise in the freight rate on coal, thus saving local consumers approximately $5,200 annually.

Bone Dry Gets Him: Had Bottle On Hip

Nashville, March 7.—(Special.)—The first arrest in violation of the "bone dry" law was made yesterday when Traffic Officer Marshall and Patrolman John Connor, of the local department, took into custody Horace Yoes, farmer, who was apprehended on one of the uptown streets of the city carrying in his pocket a full quart of whisky.

Charges of being drunk on the street and violating the "bone dry" law were registered against Yoes at the police station. He was locked up, unable to make the required bond of $500.

The law under which Yoes was taken into custody prohibits the receipt of intoxicating liquors from a common carrier or other carriers, prohibiting the possession of such liquors hereafter received from a common carrier, and prohibiting the shipment and personal transportation of such liquors into the state, or between points within the state, whether intended for personal use or otherwise.

Carload Of Velvet Beans Is Sold By Hartselle People

Citizens of Hartselle have disposed of an entire car load of velvet beans at cost to farmers within a week, according to advices received here today. The beans were bought for seed to encourage the farmers in growing them. It is stated, another car will be purchased at once.

The following dispatch was received here today:
"Within a week an entire car load of velvet beans, which were bought by the business men of Hartselle and sold to the farmers at cost for seed purposes have been disposed of. It is stated that another car will be purchased. The purchase of the cars of seed is part of a campaign for the raising of velvet beans."

BRACE UP!

Do you feel old before your time? Is your back bent and stiff? Do you suffer urinary disorders? Don't despair—profit by Albany experiences. Albany people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's an Albany resident statement.

J. A. Dillehay, retired grocer, 115 Fourth avenue, Albany, says: "My back was so sore and lame that I had to walk in a stooped position. It caused me intense agony to straighten. My strength rapidly left me and I couldn't get relief, although I tried many medicines and doctored faithfully. Doan's Kidney Pills removed every symptom of kidney complaint. My back was strengthened and I could get about my work easily." (Statement given February 28, 1903.) Over six years later, Mr. Dillehay said: "I keep Doan's Kidney Pills in the house and take them occasionally merely to regulate the action of my kidneys."

GERMAN PLOTTINGS COVERED COUNTRY

TEUTONS THREATENED CARRANZA WITH REVOLUTION IF HE REFUSED U. S. WAR.

(International News Service.)
New York, March 7.—Germany threatened Gen. Carranza "with the most formidable revolution he had ever known" if he refused to make war on the United States in accordance with Foreign Secretary Zimmermann's proposal for a German-Mexico-Japanese alliance.

This fact and other sensational developments were disclosed by federal authorities in the investigation that followed the arrest of Dr. Sakunna, a German, and Dr. Chandra Chakraborty, a Bengalese, formulating an "East Indian plot."

Information obtained from papers seized in the office of Wolf Von Igel at the time of the Welland canal plot exposures, together with other bits of evidence, enabled federal authorities here, they said, to announce these disclosures.

It was learned that $3,000,000 has been spent by the German government in fomenting plots in the United States in the past few months. Also that thousands of German spies are now engaged in different parts of the country in formulating conspiracies and that the spy system is headed by an agent of the Kaiser's government referred to as a "master spy," who is still at large.

(International News Service.)

New York, March 7.—Fritz Kolb and Hans Schwartz, alleged German bomb plotters, were held for the grand jury without bail today when arraigned in the Hoboken police court.

A charge of unlawful possession of bombs was entered against them. The men told the court that they were ready to admit the possession of the bombs, but did not desire a hearing at this time.

Edwin F. Horne, an inspector from the bureau of combustibles of New York, who examined the bombs, said they were of a highly dangerous nature.

LIEUTENANT-GOV. THOS. E. KILBY, Candidate for Governor

To the People of Morgan County:

The affairs of the State of Alabama are very much like those of any large business; the same principles should be applied to their operation. I ask your support of my candidacy for Governor upon the basis of my promise to you that, if elected, I will conduct the affairs of the state according to the principles I have seen successfully used in the conduct of private business. I would advocate and use the power of the executive office to put into effect a system of business—A BUDGET SYSTEM THAT WOULD PLAINLY AND WITH THE WIDEST POSSIBLE PUBLICITY SET FORTH A PLAN BY WHICH THE EXPENDITURES SHALL NOT EXCEED THE INCOME. By economical management the deficit can be wiped out in a few years. Briefly, I stand for and will work for:

Equalization of the tax burden.
The advancement of all educational interests.
Improvement of public highways.
Encouragement of agriculture.

Better understanding between capital and labor, that the resources of the state may be developed to the fullest possible extent.

A workmen's compensation act that would really compensate injured workmen and their families instead of damage suit lawyers.

Better provisions for the comfort of Confederate veterans.
Codification of the laws, with simplification as a feature, to the end that laws may be understood by laymen. Re-arrangement of judicial circuits and reform of court procedure, according to recommendations of the Alabama Bar Association.

The maintenance and strict enforcement of the present prohibition laws; the enforcement of all laws, and the curtailment of the pardoning power of the executive.

The abolishment of the convict lease system. Convict labor should not be used to compete with honest free labor.

Encouragement of capital for the development of the state on equal terms with local capital.—No discrimination through exemption from taxation.

I think I am justified in assuring you that my experience in business has equipped me for undertaking this work with reasonable hope of its accomplishment to your satisfaction.

Anniston, Ala., March 5, 1917.

Respectfully yours,

THOS. E. KILBY,

"It is not inconceivable that the obstructionists—the filibusters—may be actuated by traitor's sentiment. What say you? May the senate make a rule by which it may be held at bay by treachery until the foreign foe may have prevailed over a supine nation." He called attention to the fact that in 1861 senators were expelled for treason.

MENTH-ALBA FOR CROUP

In case of croup rub the little one's throat, chest and nostrils with Menth-Alba. The body heat will vaporize it and the vapor of the healing oils will immediately penetrate to the irritated congested membranes, opening the air passages and raising the phlegm. This instantly relieves the choking sensation. Menth-Alba likewise opens the air passages and relieves the irritation that causes cold in the head, catarrh, sore throat, inflamed tonsils, etc. First aid for pneumonia and pleurisy. 25c at druggists. Have it in the house always.
